

This is a wonderful thank you from Linda Mobley. She is a teacher at Bethune Academy near Disney World. She writes:

Thanks John and Terri...you made my day. I love the note. But most of all I love my garden. The one at Bethune is winding down for the year, but I'll start it again in the fall. I'm about ready to harvest all our Sweet Florida Onions and dry them out (if there will any left to dry) The chard is still growing strong...I've been told that the water will be turned off once school is out, so I will lose everything and have to start again in the fall. But the kids will love it then as much as they did this year. Every day when we leave lunch, they beg to go to the garden before going in. So every day we take a trip to the garden. One little boy brought in some sweet pea seeds. I let him plant some in one of the large bottom containers. They are about 3 inches now but won't have mature peas on them until after school. But he enjoys watching his peas grow. It has been a great source of teaching, growing and learning for us all. Thank you for your support and help on every turn. I am also enjoying my own garden at home. I bought just two stacks...it's just me at home. But I have tomatoes in bloom, squash with large leaves and ready to bloom, small cucumber plants (the squirrels love to dig them up!) scallions, green peppers, collards and of course my herbs all growing in my small two stack garden. I love it! Thanks for all the joy you've brought to me and my students!
